

By 2023, 65% of the world's population will have its personal information covered under modern privacy regulations, up from 10% today.

By 2024, more than 80% of organisations worldwide will face modern privacy and data protection requirements. Privacy is paramount and will only become more stringent.

The reason to invest:

Organisations will be held legally accountable for compliance with the POPI Act, meaning your company can face financial penalty for non-compliance. Early compliance adopters will have an edge over their competition.

What ComplyIT offers:

- Easy to use SAAS. Collaborative. Reporting.
- POPIA Employee Training Awareness Course.
- Data mapping.
- Privacy impact assessments.
- Pre-load governance policies.
- Manage data sharing contracts.

Interview with Paul Mullan, MD of COR Concepts

"Data Protection Laws around the world emphasize on data protection and not privacy. South African's don't understand POPIA, but we seeing the same trends in SA as around the world. Businesses shouldn't be looking at compliance but business benefit. Benefits are:

- Faster, easier access to the information that you need to run your business.
- Better sharing of information amongst internal departments.
- More trusted information (single version of the truth).
- Less duplication in paper and electronic formats.
- Accurate up-to-date information about employees, customers, suppliers and partners.
- More secure information, with less exposure to online threats.
- Lower cost of storing information through an effective retention and disposal process.
- Moving to more digital platforms in a structured, compliant manner, resulting in streamlined business processes.
- These are all real, tangible benefits that could be derived if you go about your POPIA compliance journey the right way."
